Larry Stalls joins ST Engineering Hackney
As Director of Customer Service

Washington, NC, March 26, 2020 – ST Engineering Hackney has hired Larry Stalls as the new Director of Customer Service. Stalls' first began in retail customer service at a very young age and transitioned into manufacturing.

Missing the human connection, Larry returned to a customer service position to later become a National Customer Service Leader. “I worked closely with Sales, Project Estimating, Marketing and other departments to ensure the customer was receiving the best care from the start of the order process to the final stage of installation”, stated Stalls.

“We are excited to have Larry Stalls join the Hackney team. The grass roots experience and depth of knowledge in customer service Larry brings to the organization makes him a great fit on our team.

We look forward to his leadership in providing a best in class customer experience for our customers, partners, and internal employees”, said Mitchell Lance, Hackney VP of Sales and Marketing.

A North Carolina native, Larry enjoys spending time with his wife and four kids and helping his parents. He enjoys being outside camping, boating and fishing with his family.
