Hackney Serves Community

ST Engineering Hackney is based in a small town affectionately known as "Little Washington." Fun fact: Washington, NC was founded nearly 20 years before Washington, D.C. - 1771 vs 1790.

Hackney has been a Washington staple since 1946, with roads, hotels, and restaurants named after the Hackney family. In an effort led by the VP of Sales and Marketing, Mitchell Lance, the Hackney team went to a local shelter to provide lunches. In total, close to 100 individual meals were prepared for the homeless community in Washington.

The shelter, Zion Shelter and Kitchen, said the meals provided would be enough to keep his patrons fed for at least two days.

Although this was just a quick 90 minute outing for the Hackney team, knowing they provided enough food for two days has ignited the desire to do more of these events in the coming months.
